

A GLOWING REPORT.

AN INDIANA MAN COMPARES WESTERN CANADA WITH THE UNITED STATES.

What Mr. Frank Fisher, a Prominent Dunkard, Has to Say After a Trip Through Canada.

The Department of the Interior at Ottawa has just received from Mr. E. T. Holmes, the agent of the government stationed at Indianapolis, Ind., the following letter, which requires no comment. It is only necessary to state that Mr. F. Fisher, the writer of the letter is one of the most prominent of the Dunkards and a man upon whose word the utmost reliance can be placed. His home is at Mexico, Ind., and he will be pleased to substantiate verbally or in any other way all that he says in his letter.

To My Many Friends—I am pleased to make a report to you of the pleasant visit my wife and I had in Western Canada.

We visited the territories of Alberta, Assiniboia, and Saskatchewan, and found them far surpassing our imagination, but little did I expect to find such rich, loamy soil, so much of it, and so uniform in its level prairie lay. I do think the soil of Canada as a rule equals if not exceeds the finest prairie farm lands of Indiana.

These lands are immense in their richness, and when once the soil is rotated and pulverized, it is as pliable and as easily cultivated as Indiana sandy soil.

Western Canada, from my point of view, offers as fine opportunities for mixed farming as any place in my knowledge. The long, sunny days, together with the rich soil, produce very fine wheat, oats, barley, flax and other cereal products. There is scarcely any attempt to raise corn, except early varieties for table use. The season is too short to depend upon maturing field corn. From the standpoint of getting this land ready for the plow, I must say that I never saw such a vast extent, practically all ready so all that one has to do is to hitch up the plow and go to work.

This is not the case with all Canadian land, however; some of it has quite a bit of timber, much of it may be called brush land, and some of it has lovely forest groves, dotted here and there, thereby covering a hundred and sixty acres.

I have no doubt but that this country excels as a grazing or ranching country, because they have such rich grass, having an abundance of rain to keep it fresh. They also have plenty of water streams, and as a rule water may be reached at a depth of from 20 to 40 feet. From this you can see there can be plenty of hay mown for winter feeding, and I have had reliable farmers to tell me that their stock will feed on hay alone, and be ready for market in the spring. Upon inquiring about the expense of raising a steer, a farmer replied that he did not consider it would cost any more than $4 or $6 to develop a three-year-old steer.

I truly think Canada offers a fine opening for a young man or a man who is renting land in Indiana. One hundred and sixty acres of good black land will cost you only $10 at the time you enter it, and by plowing and cultivating five acres each year for three years, gives you one hundred and sixty acres of good land for $10. This land can be bought from the railroad companies, private corporations or the government for $3 to $4 per acre.

From a financial standpoint, I believe that for a series of years (five) a young man can make $10 in Canada, whereas he would only make $1 here, and I feel sure that I spent more money to get my eighty acre farm in White county, Indiana, cultivated than it would cost me to cultivate eight hundred acres in Canada. This may seem a strong view to take of the matter, but when you take into consideration the clearing, ditching, fencing and the expensive breaking in of the stumps, and then compare the expense to that of land needing only the breaking, you will conclude that it is not such a wild or exaggerated statement as you might at first think.

I enjoyed the balmy, breezy atmosphere, which was bracing and refreshing, and the cool nights which made it so pleasant for sleep.

On making inquiries regarding the winters in this country, I learned that the people never suffer from the cold, as the weather is dry and invigorating, and in a great many places farmers and herders allow their stock to run outside the year round.

One great advantage to the settlers in Western Canada is the free creameries established by the government and run exclusively in the interest of the farmer.

I visited Thomas Daley, a farmer near Edmonton, Alberta, who showed me oats he had raised, some of which took the first prize at the Paris Exposition last year. The same yielded 110 bushels to the acre in 1899.

Yours truly,

The Turning of the Worm.
"I never saw anyone who behaved so silly in public as Mr. Gusher," remarked Mrs. Henpeck. "He always calls his wife 'Dear.' It's ridiculous." "It is so," replied Henpeck, with unwonted temerity; "how can a man call his wife 'dear' in view of the fact that 'talk is cheap.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Drink Water.
If you do not accustom yourself to drink water regularly, you are liable to have the waste products of the tissues of the body form faster than they are removed. Great weakness and languor on rising in the morning is generally due to a large secretion of these waste products, and the remedy is to drink a tumblerful of water—either hot or cold—just before retiring. This materially assists in the process during the night, and leaves the tissues fresh and strong, ready for the active work of the next day.

Dead Sea of Thibet.
Sven Hedin has discovered a second dead sea in the highlands of Thibet—a vast lake so impregnated with salt that indigenous life is out of the question. It was impossible for him to get his boat close to the shore, so that he and his companions had to wade out two boat lengths before she would float, and this was sufficient to coat their legs and clothes thickly with salt. The entire bed of the lake appeared to consist of salt, and the density of the lifeless water was, of course, very high.

A NARROW ESCAPE.
Bath, N. Y., Sept. 16th.—There is now at the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home here an old soldier who has been nearer death than anyone who has lived to tell the story.

His name is A. E. Ayers. For many years he lived in Minneapolis, Minn., where he is well known.

Four physicians of that city once told Mr. Ayers that he could not live four days. He had Bright's disease.

As a last resort he tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. He is strong and well today.

He says: "I was in the very presence of death, but Dodd's Kidney Pills saved me. They are the greatest medicine in the world."

Concerning Marriage. A little girl in Ireland was asked what was the sacrament of matrimony. She said: "It's a state of torment into which souls enter to prepare them for another and a better world."

Mechanics in Mid-ocean. The captain of a Norwegian tramp steamer recently replaced a broken propeller in mid-ocean in a very ingenious way. He had a nine-ton extra propeller on board, in accordance with a recently made rule of the marine insurance companies, and, having shifted his cargo forward until his vessel actually stood on her head in the water, with the propeller bearings exposed, he rigged up a timber raft and his crew removed the new one without a great deal of difficulty.

Professional Bee-Hunters. There are a large number of professional "bee-hunters" in the west and southwest of Texas. Small caves and dark recesses formed by shelving rock abound along the waterways of the Texan rivers. They are the natural hives of the wild bees, and take the place of the hollow tree trunks of the forest regions of the northern country. These caves are used year after year by bees, and in many instances they have been found to be literally filled with honey.

MENACE OF AN ANARCHY

A GROUP OF CHICAGO ANARCHISTS, AND THEIR RESIDENCE AT 515 CARROLL AVENUE.

The man Czolgosz who attempted to assassinate the President at Buffalo and succeeded in wounding him so dangerously, may or may not be the emissary of a particular group of Anarchists; but he is unquestionably the representative and acted as the instrument of a spirit of anarchy which is present in modern society and menaces the civilization of the world. Its violence is not directed against any individual ruler or executive head of a state, good or bad, beloved or hated, by his people, but against government of itself, against our social system as it has developed in natural order.

This spirit of savage resistance to the working of a law of human development as it is benign, manifests itself in the beginning in futile attempts to run counter to the irresistible current of human progress, and to provoke rebellion against social conditions which can be improved and uplifted by its operation alone. The sentiment which would set labor against capital and destroy fidelity to duty in the employed, is a servile and despicable impulse, which would turn the servant into an implacable enemy of the master, always free to assail his interests and wantonly destroy his property, is the prolific mother of that savage spirit of anarchy which inspired the attempt to assassinate one of the most beloved presidents this Republic has ever had.

This attempt at assassination, however, was not made because of any enmity against Mr. McKinley individually, for such enmity does not exist; his character makes it impossible. The impulse that fired the shot came from the spirit of savage vindictiveness against the civilized government and civilized society and law and order which Mr. McKinley represents.

The cowardly assault was only the extreme and concrete manifestation of a feeling of ferocious hatred of a resistless law of human development which even clergymen from the higher places have been making themselves conspicuous of late by stimulating, apologizing for, and coddling, and for which they have been seeking to provoke sympathy as a reasonable resentment. It is a spirit of malevolence, of destructiveness, of envy, hatred and malice and all uncharitable-ness. In its blind fury it would throw down and trample upon every monument of civilization and scatter and burn up the accumulations of treasure and beauty civilization has made and is making.

There can be no doubt but that the crime at Buffalo will result in the stamping out of anarchy, and of every other propaganda that leads to social restlessness. It will mark the decline of the agitator who lives by ranting against class. In Chicago already the police stations are full of prisoners who are accused of being accessories to the shooting of the President. This is radical action and some injustice may be done, but the step will be indorsed. From one building at 515 Carroll avenue, 12 persons were taken whose names are as follows: Clements Puetzner, Abraham Isaak, Abraham Isaak, Jr., Alfred Schneider, Hippolyte Havel, Henry Travaglio, Mrs. Marie Isaak, Miss Marie Isaak, Julia Mechanic, Morris Fox, Martin Razner and Michael Roze.

Emma Goldman, who has been arrested, was an associate of these as well as of Czolgosz.

THREE ASSASSINS OF OUR PRESIDENTS.

Prevention of Assassination. The practical questions that civilization must answer, in view of the frequent recurrence in all lands and under all forms of government of anarchistic attempts to murder the heads of states, are these:

1. Can the person of the chief executive be more successfully guarded against such attacks?

2. Can the assassin be so dealt with as more effectually to discourage others?

The first question so far as the American Presidents are concerned, is certain to be answered affirmatively. Lincoln was approached by Booth without the slightest hindrance; he was sitting in a theatre box absolutely unguarded. Garfield was shot down as he was walking arm in arm with Blaine through a railway station, unattended by a single guard, just as any citizen might do. And now McKinley has been shot at point blank range by one of an immense throng of visitors to an exposition who were allowed to pour in promiscuously to shake his hand, without tickets or restrictions of any sort, just as if there were no such characters as anarchists or cranks. Clearly it is possible to make it much less easy than it is for unknown persons to get so close as this to the President. It will be sentimentally objected that this would destroy the old American custom of Presidential handshakings free to all comers. But old customs must be changed to meet new conditions.

To the second question the answer is more difficult. The penalty of death is the severest that can be inflicted, though it might reasonably be extended to all attempts to kill the President, whether successful or not. There is, however, much plausibility in the suggestion made by many eminent criminologists that every assassin should, so far as possible, have his identity effaced. If even his name were suppressed in the reports of the crime, and he was hurried to trial and execution without having any personal prominence in the public eye, so that he would cut no figure at all either at the time or in history, it is evident that the stimulus of notoriety would be taken away. And that men of the Bresci and Czolgosz type love notoriety and public posing above all things, is believed by nearly all the scientists who have studied them.—New York World.

Senator James K. Jones and former Governor James P. Clark, of Arkansas, rival candidates for the senatorship, have agreed to urge the calling of a primary election by which the choice of the democrats of the state can be determined by popular vote. They have also agreed upon a joint speaking campaign to cover the entire state.

The Parents of Czolgosz.

CZOLGOSZ' MOTHER AND FATHER.

Paul Czolgosz, father of the anarchist assassin, lives with his family at 306 Fleet street, Cleveland, and during his residence there has always had the respect of his neighbors. Mrs. kind. The elder Czolgosz has little sympathy for his revolutionary son, and openly expresses the conviction that he should be hanged for his crime. The assassin's father does Czolgosz, the assassin's stepmother, who is now in Buffalo, is a quiet woman, neat and cleanly in appearance, but not possessed of much education.

The entire family, it would appear, with the exception of the anarchist, has had little use for books of any not believe that his son is crazy, although he has no hesitation in saying that he is weak-minded. The assassin's father used to live on a farm near Alpena, Mich., before he came to Detroit. He has eight sons—all of them by a first wife, now dead, and five of whom reside in Michigan. Mrs. Czolgosz agrees with her husband in the opinion that her stepson must have been set on by older and abler minds.
